Term and Permanent Life Insurance They go together like...

- Everyone needs term life insurance to cover immediate needs.
- Employers often provide a base level of term life for their employees.
- Some employers also make available, at employee expense, additional optional term insurance.
- Employer-paid or sponsored term typically expires when the employee changes jobs or retires.
- Everyone needs individual permanent life insurance to cover long-term needs, especially for those after retirement.
- Your employees can apply for voluntary permanent life insurance through the convenience of payroll deduction at no direct expense to you.

Let us help you make this valuable permanent life insurance benefit available to your employees and their families.
